FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WSU Center for Real Estate announces the recipient of the first Layman L. Clark/Kansas CCIM Chapter Scholarship in Real Estate

Kianga Coleman is the first recipient of the new Layman L. Clark/Kansas CCIM Chapter Scholarship in Real Estate. This annual scholarship was established in 2011 by noted real estate developer and WSU alumnus Stephen L. Clark in honor of his father and in order to support WSU students with a demonstrated interest in a commercial real estate career.

“Kianga is a bright and motivated young woman,” says Stan Longhofer, director of the WSU Center for Real Estate. “I am confident that she will have a long and productive career in commercial real estate after she graduates from Wichita State.”

The scholarship is awarded by Wichita State University in consultation with the Kansas CCIM Chapter, the pre-eminent group of commercial real estate practitioners in central Kansas. CCIM stands for Certified Commercial Investment Member, a premier designation for commercial real estate professionals. As a part of her scholarship, Coleman will be encouraged to participate in the numerous events hosted by the Kansas CCIM Chapter.

Several other real estate scholarships were awarded for the 2011-2012 academic year as well, including:

- Denker-Graves Scholarship in Real Estate – Nathan Steele
- Walter L. Stauffer Scholarship – Christopher Lohf
- Nestor R. Weigand & Hobert C. Brady Scholarship – Kianga Coleman
- J. Roscoe Williams Memorial Scholarship – Christopher Lohf
