Admissions:

Requirements:

The Emory Lindquist Honors Scholar track is designed particularly for first-year and second-year students, but is open to qualified continuing and transfer students. The Emory Lindquist Honors Scholars curriculum leads students to explore intersections among academic disciplines and professions and to participate in academic research and creative activity.

To receive the transcript designation Emory Lindquist Honors Scholar, a student must maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.250 and complete 12 honors credit hours comprising:

Course	Title	Hours
HNRS 102	Honors Colloquium	0
HNRS 103	Honors Colloquium Portfolio	0
One honors general education seminar (HNRS-prefix course) or WSUN honors first-year seminar		3
HNRS 485	Honors Independent Research or Creative Activity	3
or HNRS 486	Honors Collaborative Research and Creative Activity Seminar
Electives chosen from honors seminars (HNRS-prefix courses) or departmental honors courses		6
Total Credit Hours		12

Justification

Describe and justify the change and its place in the department's and/or college's overall curriculum plan.

These zero-credit courses organize first-year programming for honors students. They are intended to introduce students to honors requirements and opportunities and build student community. These courses have been discussed and endorsed by the Honors College Student Council and approved as requirements by the Honors College Faculty Council curriculum committee. That information was included in the course proposal and description. This program proposal formalizes that approval.

Impact on Other Departments

Changes to programs often impact other departments/colleges. Adding or removing required courses offered by other departments, creating content that overlaps with existing programs, and other changes that could impact the enrollment of existing programs are examples of ways other departments and/or colleges may be impacted. Does this program change potentially impact other departments/colleges?
